LAYS MAN UP TO CHIEF CLERK'S SYSTEM

Motorists Whose Checks Are Held Up Must Pay or Take Cars Off Road, He Says

"Misplaced sympathy" and a "credit system that turned out bad" were blamed today by Morgan T. Ryan, registrar of motor vehicles, for undeposited checks on closed banks that may mean recall of 1000 automobile registrations.

Register Ryan revealed that his office also holding the checks since the plan of car owners to hold the checks until after Christmas. Most of the blame he placed on Charles T. Gilley, his chief clerk. "I think this thing has been going on every year," Ryan said. "It just happened that the banks closed this year and the checks couldn't be cashed."

"MISPLACED SYMPATHY" "Mr. Gilley has been on the job 13 years and motorists have come to him to ask that they get their plates in the fall, give him checks and then ask that the checks be held until after Christmas."

"It wasn't done with everybody but only in cases where it was thought sympathy was needed. It seems that the chief clerk placed sympathy in these 1000 cases."

Ryan revealed that originally about $15,000 to $20,000 was held up with the closing of the banks, but that is exactly what we need. "I don't think it is a credit list," Ryan immediately made new funds to replace the worthless checks.

Added in it was true that out of the 1000 were to be recalled, the 1930 were to be recalled. Ryan answered emphatically.

"We have the power to do it, and that is exactly what we intend to do."

"I am to have a conference today with Chief Clerk Gilley."

"You know how I don't work Saturdays and a rule—but I do. I'm only the registrar, he's chief clerk."

"After all, I can't watch all the detail and that function of collecting for the registration and other fees falls in his line of work."

SIXTH AUTO CRASHES INTO PIAZZA; OWNER CALLS IT 'ENOUGH'

Westport, Ct., Jan. 23 (INS)—Five times automobiles had crashed and nearly wrecked the front veranda of the Thomas Quigley residence on State st. Each time it was repaired.

The porch was the only casualty. The Quigleys now believe it is a little too near the street.

WATTS STUDIES YOUNG SLACKER

By R. RALPH WATTS

Personality, Social, Psychological and Vocational Adviser

In the analysis of Roland G. Bosquet, Norton youth who slew an Altheboro policeman, I find an individual who is the victim of his own obstinacy.

This type could well serve society should he have had the proper education which would have fitted him for the application of his natural talents.

His physical nature, the material side of life was over developed to the expense of the spiritual and material. There are indications which show that he is unreasonable in his views, with selfishness and obstinate nature predominating.

Spiritual side of his nature indicates that he was at all times desirous of demonstrative affection, yet of a moody nature with a conflict of the natural forces of life constantly urging within him.

His abundant animosity is clearly revealed with no controlling power behind it.

He prefers to remain conditions out in his own way but with the overdeveloped obstinate nature, reason collapses like water against the wall of doubt he is accustomed to having things his own way all through life and he imagines that any adventure which he started would be carried through successfully.

"BOUNCERS KILL?"

HARVARD LOSES TO CUPID

Cupid is about to score a goal on Harvard.

The marriage on February 6 of Potter Palmer 3d, Harvard hockey star and son of a famous Chicago family, to Miss Rose Saltonstall Mowbray of the Back Bay, will cause the youth to say farewell to the Class of 1932 at Harvard for he intends to leave college in two weeks, only five months before graduation.

Besides being an outstanding hockey player, young Palmer stands very solidly in his studies.

He stated, however, that he might return at a later date to claim his degree. Immediately after the wedding, he said last night, he and his bride intend to honeymoon in the Middle West.

Following this, he intends to enter business with his father in Chicago. His father, Potter Palmer, Jr., is a real estate magnate in Chicago.

Miss Mowbray is the daughter of A. L. West, Mowbray, of 208 Beacon st. The young couple met at her debut four years ago.

Honolulu, Jan. 23 (INS)—The grand jury adjourned last night until Tuesday without bringing indictments against the four Americans accused of murder in the "honoring" of Joseph K. Babbalanja, one of five native Hawaiians identified in a criminal attack upon Mrs. Thalia Massie.

The accused, all held for safety on board the U. S. S. Albatross, Mrs. Granville Forester, Washington and New York society woman, Lieut. Thomas N. Massie, who broke into the room, turned off two gas and opened the windows. Higgins was unconscious on the bed.

BLONDE BEAUTY FOUND SLAIN

Los Angeles, Jan. 23 (INS)—The baffling murder of a beautiful young blonde girl today confronted police who said the victim probably had been a dancer in a night club and may have been murdered there and hurried from an automobile on a highway near the Culver city "night club belt."

Alive when picked up, the girl died in a hospital without regaining consciousness. The body lay today, unclaimed, in a morgue.

Well dressed, the girl unquestionably had a good position or had other means of support, according to detectives.

Paul W. McGarry, Los Angeles lumberman who found the girl, said she was clutching a purse, which investigators found contained money and expensive toilet articles. Detectives at once launched a searching investigation, the trail of which led through several supper clubs and dance entertainment places.

Death resulted from a fractured skull. She had been beaten severely, police said.

NEWS 'FLOORED' HIM

"Fowls was my best friend," said Ellis. "No one was more surprised than I although it is very true that my friends were amazed. I knew of his intentions of what had been going on."

"I had a few of my wife's divorcing me and filling intentions to marry Fowls was on December 13 at a bridge game, when somebody produced a clipping from News, telling about it. It floored me."

Mrs. Ellis left her husband for her trip West, supposedly in fear, according to friends, and gave no hint of her plans.

In addition to his suit against Fowls, may attack the divorce on the ground that he was not served with notice of it. Through Atty. William G. Todd, Ellis has placed a restraining order against the real estate and bank accounts of Fowls, who is a millionaire, and has a partial estate in Commonwealth Ave., West Newton.

SHOCK FOR HONEYMOON

The suit will be filed in municipal court, the lawyer choosing this court in order to get quicker trial. The Fowls are now in California honeymooning.

Fowls is 32 and the former Mrs. Ellis is 25. Fowls is an investment broker, but it is understood he was recently retired from active business some time ago, selling his interest in a partnership for more than $100,000. He also has an estate on Buzzards Bay and a yacht.

Ellis, who is about a dozen years Fowls' junior, understood at the time that his wife left on her trip, that his friend was in the West for his health.

Flying Casualties Flee in Bay State

Fewer persons were killed and fewer injured in airplane crashes in Massachusetts last year than during the previous year.

MOTHER STAKES KIDNAPED MAN BABY'S LIFE ASKS $50,000

New York, Jan. 23 (US)—A young mother today pleaded with medical scientists at Columbia University to gamble the life of her two-year-old baby girl on an operating table in the slim hope they would be able to correct a freakish error of nature.

Confronted with making a Solomon-like decision as to whether it would be better to permit little Diana Moore to continue life as an imbecile, the mother, Mrs. Lillian Moore, may undergo an operation to have the skull removed. Doctors have not yet consented to attempt the feat. (International Newsweek photo.)

Denver, Jan. 23 (INS)—Police are in possession today of a letter from Benjamin P. Bower, kidnaped Denver baker manager, pleading for $50,000 to save his life. The letter, which Mrs. Bower received Friday morning said that Bower was alive and well but would be killed if the ransom was not paid.

Chief of Police A. T. Clark obtained the letter by making formal demand for it from Mrs. Bower. Mrs. Bower had previously refused to permit police to see the child's mother, Mrs. Lillian Moore, took her baby for examination, she was advised to return next week.

YOUTH FLEES IN ARMS SEIZURE

Lyons police turned to Boston today in their hunt for Nicholas Lazarus, of Church st., Lyon, who fled from his home late yesterday, just before police located a cache of rifles, automatics and ammunition in a secret room there.

Officials at Lyons believe the youth fled to this city and is now in seclusion in some hideout of a local gang. Police believe some of the automatic pistols were those stolen from the Lyons armory a short time ago.

Police conducted three other raids on homes in the district last night after the discovery. In one they found more arms, while their efforts were fruitless in the other places.

To permit normal mental development, it would be necessary to enlarge the cavity of brain—ones of the most delicate and dangerous feats ever undertaken by surgery.

TWO RICH BOYS DIE AS PLANE HITS RIVER

ELLIS' STORY OF HOW FOWLS 'STOLE' WIFE

"And He Was My Best Friend, Too," Says Brookline Husband in $250,000 Suit

Seated at a table with friends playing bridge, Harold H. Ellis of St. Paul st., Brookline, who thought his wife was visiting friends in the West, learned for the first time that she had divorced him and married his best friend.

Ellis related this denouement of the love triangle drama involving himself, his ex-wife and his "friend," Eliot R. Fowls, wealthy West Newton, Mass. lawyer, today following his launching of a $250,000 suit against Fowls for alienation of affections.

Fowls' divorce suit was based on the fact that the woman in the case, Mrs. Granville Ellis Fowls, was as close a friend of the late Mrs. Fowls as her husband was a friend of Fowls. She spent considerable time with Mrs. Fowls as the latter lay dying only a few days ago.

"Fowls was my best friend," said Ellis. "No one was more surprised than I although it is very true that my friends were amazed. I knew of his intentions of what had been going on."

"I had a few of my wife's divorcing me and filling intentions to marry Fowls was on December 13 at a bridge game, when somebody produced a clipping from News, telling about it. It floored me."

Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Hoover

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era," and other important works now writing for the Boston Evening Globe.

IT WAS HARDLY NECESSARY in the discussion of the pending proposition to cut the pay of most Federal officials, except the President, to inject Mr. Hoover's financial status into the debate. It is not proposed that there shall be any cut in his salary, although other rulers during these distressing times voluntarily have cut theirs. It might be possible to cut the President's traveling allowance, since his duty at present is in Washington. But there is no serious disposition to do even that. However, Mr. Hoover's fortune was brought into the debate with interesting results.

It is commonly understood that he is worth in the millions; but an Administration spokesman announced that he had made much money but had "given it away" so lavishly on charity that he has less than a million left. The amount he gave to the emergency relief fund certainly would have made no impression on a fortune of millions, but he may carefully have concealed his benefactions.

But even so he still remains the richest President we have ever had. His entire life has been devoted to money-making before the war, and he was deeply interested in mines in places in the Old West. Even now, with his fortune reduced to "less than a million," he still remains the richest of the Presidents.

Jefferson Died "enriched"

Few of our Presidents have possessed more than a comfortable competence. Many of them were very poor. Washington was a rich man for his time; and Jefferson was rich when he entered the public service, but he died penniless because he had neglected his "mineral" and "land" interests. During the days after his death it was commonplace for thirty and forty guests to breakfast, lunch and dine at Monticello, and many of these were utter strangers. That is the reason he was compelled to sell his library—which became the nucleus of the Congressional Library.

No other President could be said to be rich. Most were merely comfortable. Some were very poor. But statesmanship cannot be measured in terms of money. Hamilton left nothing, and never had much; and the younger Pitt died hopelessly in debt and the nation discharged his obligations.

Rather Late in the Day to Begin

Our sympathy and concern today may well be confined to the millions—who are denied the right to work for bread, to the millions with whom mere bread is a problem.

The President is determined that not one penny shall go from the Federal Treasury to prevent starvation. He insists that smaller governmental units shall make the appropriations; and if the bankers insist they shall not, it is just too bad for the hungry.

The President's "American relief" measures pending and intended in Congress are for the relief of banks and railroads, but before the session is over Congress will have the appropriate funds for measures intended for the relief of hungry.

They Hired the Money, Didn't They?

Mr. Coolidge has one advantage, however, he, unlike Mr. Hoover, was too robust an American to join in an effort to transfer the debts of fourteen million to the backs of our own people. When they talked to him about it, he answered crisply: "They hired the money, didn't they?"

And come to think of it, we believe they did; and used it for their own benefit.

HERE'S LATEST OF IL DUCE

ON A SHOW OF 1932

Right this way, ladies and gentlemen, to the life show!

The curtain was raised at 3 o'clock this afternoon and Benito's 20th auto show is on, afternoons and evenings, for the month ending March 1st. It's going to be worth watching at, even if you don't think you'll get a new car this year. But maybe you'll change your mind after getting an eyeful of the latest.

Budgets have a way of being stretched when the head of the family sees something the head of the family wants badly enough.

NEW COLOR, TOO

As to who's the head of the family, well, that's another story.

For the ladies, there are lots and lots of new colors and styles of dress to match all the evening gowns in the wardrobe. And some of the smartest and daintiest little contrivances that ever delighted feminine hearts.

For the sturdy side of the family, there are examples of free-wheeling that will try their hearts when they think of the old bus. And when they try out the newest in brakes and clutches—there will be no stopping the "heads" budget or no budget.

Talk of cost-cutting even began to include the other features of the new type of machine. Signs and towels and slippers that all the experts in automotive have gotten together to say you want a new machine.

SHARKEY TAKES $25,000 CUP

HEAT TITLE GOOBY

By JACK CONWAY
New York, Jan. 23.—Jack Sharkey says he will win the heavyweight title for America when he clashes with Max Schmeling of Germany in a 15-round bout at the Yankee Stadium, New York, on Jan. 16.

Sharkey, entitled to 12½ per cent of the gate for his share, giving the remaining 100 and one-half per cent to Schmeling, to be secured by getting the title name. When Max and Sharkey fought two years ago they drew almost $300,000. This time the fight is expected to draw a million dollars on the basis Sharkey's services amount to $250,000.

"I have conceded everything to Schmeling in the way of terms to get him into the ring," said Sharkey today.

"I accepted 10 per cent of the gate so that the German heavyweight wouldn't have a single cent for running out of the match."

ENTITLED TO SHARE
"I was entitled to at least 12½ per cent of the gate, but when Schmeling demanded 100 per cent of the champion's share of 25 per cent, I was entitled to so as to make the match a certainty. The German gave another 25 per cent extra to Max, which makes his share 12½ per cent."

"I don't think I could beat Schmeling, I never could have made such financial sacrifices."

"When I met him, I handled him easily last time. I handled him easily up to the time the referee low-browed me."

TO FIGHT TRAINING
"I don't think I'm a bit better fighter now than I was then, but at least as good physically, now as when I fought Schmeling before, but I have better technique."

"I will fight Schmeling on Jan. 16, tomorrow. He will take training at Schaefer's gym."

"I will take a short trip to the White Mountains where he will train himself for his coming title fight."

Schmeling Leaves for Home in Germany
Schmeling was on his way to Germany on the sailing ship, the German liner, to fight a fight on Jan. 16, when he was told that he was to fight Sharkey on Jan. 16.

Herberts' Three Goals Great Hockey Feat

During his playing days, As Smith was the most popular player in the Bruins. He came here in 1922 to play for the Westmonters and later he turned professional and joined the Boston Bruins.

As told to Bill O'Brien
Possibly my judgment may be awayed because of my high regard for Jimmie Herberts, the big hero in this game, but I will always regard the Bruins-Pittsburgh Pirates game played in January, 1928, as the greatest game in hockey, and since his retirement he has been officiating with equal success.

The Bruins were playing their second season in the National Hockey League and they were not meeting with any more success than they had the previous year. They had won only three games and were in last place, one game back of the previous year.

The Bruins outkicked, outplayed, and above all, outscored the Pirates, winning 3 to 0. To make it a perfect game, the Bruins scored three goals in the first period.

Not only did Jimmie Herberts score all three Bruins goals, but he was made without any assistance from any of his mates.

The Bruins and the Pirates fought through a scoreless first period, but early in the middle of the second period, Herberts scored the first goal.

He reached Lionel Conacher and Art Smith, he faked to go outside, and then jumped through, recovered the puck, and beat "Shrimp" Worcester with a corner shot.

Five minutes later, Jimmie duplicated that performance and the captain went wild over his uncanny ability. Then, in the last period, Jimmie came through with his third tally by gathering in a rebound from one shot and leading it into the net.

New York, Jan. 23.—A $25,000 gate at the Billy Petrolle-Eddie Ran bout at the Garden was quite a knockout for Old Man Depression to take.

Petrolle slammed Ran out of the picture in six rounds. New York fans would like to see some more of the fight.

Billy Petrolle, who is in town, would like to see the fight at the Garden. He is a big man and a big fighter.

Contract has been signed for a fight between Charles Retzlaff, a stable man of Petrolle's, and Eddie Ran at the Garden on February 5.

That's the same night when Eddie Ran will travel 35 rounds with Paulino in the New York Garden.

I met Charley Newark at the Garden. He will soon leave for the States where Steve Harn will trade punches with Armand.

Armand, who is in town, is one of the most popular characters in the boxing world. Everybody is anxious to see him get his.

"BOWL OF RASPBERRIES" FOR THE EVIL OF TODAY

By HELEN ROWLAND

SOMETIMES, when I read the wails in the "heart-balm" columns or tune in one of those lament for lost lovers over the radio, it seems as though "life is just a bowl of raspberries" for a girl these days.

What is the matter with these modern lovers? Are the men older and more indifferent than they used to be—or are the girls really under the spell? Fondly, I think it is a little of both. The girls are harder-headed because the boys are softer-headed—and so the result is just what you would expect.

The woman is the weaker vessel, filled with imagination, and the world of the heartaches that a world of beautiful, hidden emotions that aren't there. She is constantly attracted a tender significance to something he has said or done, just as a "stunt" (or just for instance).

If he happens to call her up for a date, two evenings in succession, she jumps immediately at the conclusion that it is because he can't live without seeing her for 28 hours. Whereas, it may be simply because some "other girl" didn't happen to be at home.

A woman pours her sentiment and emotions over everything, just as she pours maple syrup over a waffle. But, when she lets it slip over and magnify or glorify a man's most commonplace act and most casual kiss, she is making a fatal mistake.

Men are not naturally romantic or sentimental; and no woman can judge a man's emotions by her own. To a man, a girl is a girl. You date her. And take it or leave it. You take it. An evening is an evening. You amuse yourself.

When a man feels any really serious emotion for a woman, he is so surprised and embarrassed that he blurs it right out. And no girl can MISTAKE it!

But, girls will go right on deceiving themselves, and deceiving themselves, until they find that a man is a perfectly literal, simple-minded creature, with no complex, no deep underlying nature, no subtle motives and mighty few hidden emotions.

Don't take a man too seriously—or you won't get a chance to take him at all. Why should the independent, level-headed, modern girl be so susceptible and "easy" that a simple creature like a man can turn her into the Princess of Wales?

Excessive Blood Brings Vaquez Disease

By DR. R. S. COPELAND

ABOUT FIFTY YEARS ago an eminent physician named Vaquez described a new and rare blood disease. The disease is now spoken of as "Vaquez disease," but is also known as "polycythaemia" in this disorder. We frequently hear of individuals having too much blood, but it is rare to learn of anyone having too little blood. The cause of the disease is not yet discovered, it is known to occur in families.

An individual suffering from this disease has unusual color in his face. The face is light red, and becomes bluish red upon exertion. This is a characteristic sign of the disease, though some cases have been reported where this sign was absent. Weakness and wastefulness, loss of weight, dizziness, noise in the ears, difficulty in breathing, nausea, indigestion and severe headache are other classical symptoms found in this disorder.

The hands and feet frequently "toll asleep." This condition, associated with severe neuralgia, prevents any sleep and rest, and the sleeplessness in these cases is difficult to cure until the underlying cause is recognized. Very often the hand is engorged with blood when held down, and becomes rapidly warm when held up.

At one time this disease was considered a hopeless and fatal disease. It was first cured by treatment in 1924. A specific drug was used in that case, and the treatment of this rare disease, and it has been used with increasing success.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Big Boy, a powerful, muscular man, is arrested and charged with "kidnaping" the girl. The girl, who is a beautiful, blonde, is released. In the meantime, four men are found murdered in a warehouse. Capt. Jim Belmont is convinced that "Big Boy" Belmont is responsible, and wants to get the "Big Boy" and his whole gang, but he receives orders for duty in the suburbs. At last, Belmont captures three, but releases and is mentioned for chief of police.

Ed glared at Belmont. Daisy reached over and pressed his hand.

"What did I tell you? There are ways to make money," she said.

"What, you?" asked Ed.

"Well, I can't see why you can't listen to the proposition," continued Daisy.

"All right—what is it, Belmont?"

"Come on—what's the proposition?" asked Ed impatiently.

Grapefruit Delicious in Salad

By MARTHA LEE. POINCE DE LEON, an adventurous, handsome, and dashing—represented by the grapefruit. The grapefruit is a fruit which is sweet, adapted and improved, and the ancestor of our grapefruit. And grapefruit today gives us a most valuable source of vitamin C—a large amount of which they tell us is necessary for our best health and vigor.

For a delicious salad, and an attractive one as well, arrange slices of pineapple on crisp lettuce. Sprinkle with a dressing of oil, vinegar, and a dash of salt. Then, r-mov-ing all the white membranes. Drain the juice from the cups of grapefruit. On the pineapple slices arrange in a semi-circle, round the edge of the pineapple slice, alternate sections of young and grapefruit. Decorate with a sprig of watercress or fresh mint if possible, and serve with a thin bit of cream.

Grapefruit in gelatin salad is delicious, especially combined with oil, fruit, celery, and chopped nuts. This is served with mayonnaise, diluted with whipped cream and sprinkled with paprika, or the mayonnaise and whipped cream can be added to the gelatin mixture and the salad prepared in an electric refrigerator to freeze.
